People in UK effected by Psoriasis.

Psoriasis is an immune condition, which causes symptoms on the skin and sometimes the joints.

Psoriasis can occur at any age, although there seem to be two 'peaks'; from the late teens to early thirties, and between the ages of around 50 and 60.

The severity of psoriasis varies greatly from person to person. For some people it's just a minor irritation, but for others it can have a major impact on their quality of life.

Mary-Jane's story

I have had Psoriasis since I was 14 years old and it has always been consistent in appearance. The worst visible areas have always been on my elbows. I have spent thousands of Euros on a dermatologist and there is no cure. I had pretty much given up on finding a solution on overall improvement and it definitely gets worse at hormonal times.

"It felt really hot constantly and I found it hard to wear certain fabrics as it made it uncomfortable."

The results

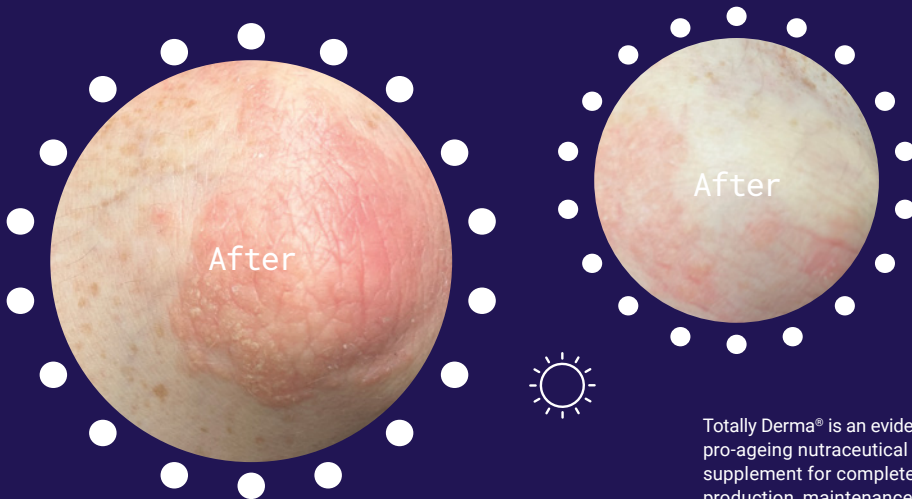

I tried Totally Derma® for 3.5 months and have seen such a great improvement in the appearance of the affected areas. I find it's not as hot and easier to manage with just regular emollients. I have cut the use of steroid gels drastically.

I have also, since the age of 21, suffered with poor acid reflux and IBS. I have seen a great improvement in this and I find it easy to tolerate as I am allergic to shellfish, so am slow to take omegas and marine based supplements. A bonus has been that my joints feel a bit better too (I do strength training). I really feel it has helped my overall health massively.
